Dear Secretary Glickman:

I have been reading various articles about biologically engineered foods and I have some questions and concerns that I hope you will be able to address. I am very worried about the safety of these biotech foods, both for the environment and for human consumption.

Could you tell me what human studies have been performed and what foods will contain these ingredients? Where is the peer-reviewed scientific documentation to prove that GEFs are indeed safe? And I need to know why
t h e

FDA and USDA have not released documentation from corporations like Monsanto, Novartis, and Dupont that claim their GEFs are safe? Finally. where are the ecological studies that demonstrate that transgenic seeds won't result in unwanted ecological impact to existing crops?

Thank you in advance for any information you can send to me.
